Job experience

October 2017 – Present

Front-end architect

I have prepared, tested and established the front end technologies that the development team is using to build the new university applications. I'm currently leading the front side of the project while building said applications with React/Redux, Docker and PHP7/Symfony 4.

April 2017 – October 2017

Front-end developer

I developed new features and front end solutions for multiple websites and applications and built them with a responsive design in mind and following the best practices.
